ALLRED IS APPOINTED FEDERAL JUDGE

TEXAS GOVERNOR IS NAMED TO NEWLY CREATED POSITION

ANNOUNCEMENT MADE BY ROOSEVELT AT WICHITA FALLS MONDAY

WICHITA FALLS, July 11.—(P)—President Roosevelt came to the home town of Gov. James V. Allred of Texas today and, facing an audience of the governor's home town citizens, announced that he is appointing Allred as United States judge for the Southern district of Texas, a place created by the recent act of congress.

Allred has been mentioned for the post ever since legislation establishing it was first mentioned, but Senator Sheppard had endorsed Brantley Harris of Galveston and Senator Connally had endorsed Walton Taylor of Houston.

Allred was the second judgehip President Roosevelt had filled in Texas, and both have been personal appointments. He named Judge Whitfield Davidson of Dallas as Judge of the northern district early in his term.

The president called Governor Allred to his private car shortly after leaving Fort Worth and told the governor he was to appoint him.

Senator Connally, who had stuck with Taylor until the last, was also called to President Roosevelt's private car about the time the president's decision was reached.

Allred said he would take the office. Asked if he would go on the bench immediately, Allred said that he would not go on the bench immediately. He said he was not prepared to say whether or not he had the chance to think.

"I am just as thrilled that I have not had a chance to think," he said at Wichita Falls.

Allred as well as Mrs. Allred have been favorites of the president. In both 1936 and 1937 they toured with him in Texas and have had frequent invitations to the white house.

It seemed almost certain that Lieutenant-Governor Walter Wood would flush out at least part of the term of Governor Allred for the reason that the docket of the southern district is so heavy that his services will be needed in the autumn at least.

Just before making the announcement at Wichita Falls, Allred had been paid the honor of having President Roosevelt stop in Bowie and pay tribute to himself and Alton G. Carter of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Both Allred and Carter were born in Bowie.

ROOSEVELT HEADS ACROSS WIDE WEST TEXAS AREA MONDAY

HEADS FOR AMARILLO AFTER SUNDAY REST AT HOME OF SON, ELLIOTT

FORT WORTH, July 11.—(P)—Refreshed after a week-end at the Hilltop home of his son, President Roosevelt left this gateway to the West Texas plains country at 10:01 a.m. today and headed across a vast cattle and grain domain he has never seen.

Surrounded by five Texas representatives seeking re-election, the president tarried moment at the rail station, doffed a pearl-grey Texas ten-gallon hat and promised to be back soon.

Accompanied by his son, Elliott, and daughter-in-law, Ruth, the president made a long walk from the station platform to his train, posing for pictures there while a crowd clamored for a few parting words.

T. Rep. Maury Maverick of San Antonio, in the midst of hard campaign for re-election, the president gave a warm greeting.

Mr. Roosevelt halted in the midst of Texas representatives and smilingly posed for photographs. One of the Texas solons jokingly remarked, with a nod in Maverick's direction:

"I'll bet he hates this."

ESTABLISHMENT OF CITY-COUNTY PUBLIC CENTER DISCUSSED

THE COMMISSIONERS COURT ALSO TOOK UP IMPORTANT MATTERS MONDAY

Discussion of a proposed establishment of a county-city public health center, appointment of doctors and talk about lighting the lead to cross county bridges featured the regular meeting of the commissioners' court Monday morning.

There is, of course, no requirement that the president follow either of those courses. In any event, he probably will make no appointment before fall, for the court is in recess until October.

The few political leaders remaining in Washington's midsummer heat agreed that Mr. Roosevelt undoubtedly will choose a man of some liberal views as the 68-year-old Cardozo, and voted in favor of more New Deal legislation than any of his associates. One of his last major opinions upheld the constitutionality of the social security program.

The appointment will be

The application of Lonnie L. Powell, county clerk, for the appointment of R. C. Jackson as a deputy to look after the absentees voting in his office from today through July 19, was allowed. His pay will be $2 per day.

The application of T. A. Farmer, assessor and collector of taxes, to hire Louise Holloway and Alf Milligan as deputies was granted. They will receive $3 per day to type the tax rolls.

Commissioners Slaughter, Hayes and Sessions reported heavy loads of logs, oil field machinery, etc., were breaking and damaging the bridges in their precincts and discussed the passage of orders limiting such loads, but no action was taken in the matter.

County Judge Paul H. Miller and County Auditor E. Y. Cunningham were authorized to borrow $5,000 for the general fund.

During the 1936 presidential campaign Murray, as president of the association for economy and tax equality, fought the new deal. He introduced the G. O. P. nominee, Alf M. Landon, for an Oklahoma City speech.

Supporters of Key were jubilant over two developments of the presidential visit. Key was invited to ride on the Roosevelt special train and his workers professed to see a presidential nod for their candidate in a portion of Mr. Roosevelt's speech praising the work of WPA in Oklahoma.

BAPTISTS ATTAIN GOAL IN SUNDAY SCHOOL YESTERDAY

Sunday marked a still larger crowd in our Sunday school. We are continually going up in our attendance in spite of the heat. Our attendance yesterday was around 540. Many attractive programs were rendered in the various departments. These programs are getting better and more connected with the general themes of the church. A great deal of talent has also been discovered in this better program plan.

The preaching services with Rev. E. T. Miller, the pastor, preaching, were well attended yesterday. The auditorium was well filled to hear the message, "With Christ in the Upper Room," delivered by the pastor. The evening services, held on the lawn, drew a capacity crowd.

The special music for the service, "Sing unto the Lord a Great Hill Far Away," at the morning service by the choir, Mrs. Gladys Petrus and Harold Blankenship sang "Farther Along" as a duet for the evening service.

The B. T. U. program, under the direction of Miss Era Cloe Shaupley, who is serving during the absence of Miss Vera Bottoms, who is away on vacation, was very effective. A large crowd was in attendance.

Baptist Revival at Kerens Is Success

KERENS, July 11.—(Spl.)—The Baptist revival being held at the Tabernacle and which will continue through this week, is attracting large and enthusiastic crowds. With the pastor, Rev. M. O. Cheek, bringing the evening messages, and Johnnie Cohen leading the song services, and speaking at the 10 o'clock hour, response has been unusual.

Mr. Cohen, converted Jew, with a record of 21 years in his chosen work, charming personality, good voice, the love of God in his heart and the promotion of His Kingdom on earth, his chief interest in life, is bringing wonderful messages from a life rich in personal experiences.

There were fourteen additions to the church at the morning service Sunday, and flew Sunday night.

HERE'S HOWARD HUGHES

Millionaire Flies As He Pleases, But He Comes Back With Facts

Howard Hughes, while preparing for a transatlantic flight was almost as mysterious as Charles Lindbergh when he was preparing for HIS transatlantic flight 11 years ago. For that matter, Hughes always has been mysterious. Devon Francis, AP aviation editor, tells in this story what sort of a fellow he is.

BY DEVON FRANCIS
AP Aviation Editor

NEW YORK—If thin, wiry Howard Roland Hughes, the millionaire now turned transatlantic flier, gives a tinker's dam about what other people think of him, he hasn't shown it during his 34 years.

Hughes announced he was going to fly the Atlantic. Why, was his business. A few years ago he was making hit movies. He abandoned Hollywood. That was his business, too.

A year ago last January he streaked across the United States to set a speed record which has never been approached—7 hours, 26 minutes. Crawling from his ship, he was courteous, tolerant, uninformative.

He merely wanted to do it. If a man wanted to risk a neck valued at several millions, it was his affair.

He Took It Up.

His few intimates deny he is a blue chip playboy. Whatever he is, he does what pleases his fancy with a courage and energy which set him apart.

"Better let someone else take that plane up," Dick Palmer, who built "Hughes special" racer, advised the flier in 1936.

"No," responded Hughes. "I had confidence enough in you to have you build it. I have enough confidence that it will fly."

He took it up on its first test hop, and then smashed all long-distance speed records at an average pace of 323 miles an hour.

Bit Oxygen Hose

Temperamentally nervous,

Hughes is stone-like in the cockpit of a racing airplane. On his transcontinental record flight, he almost lost consciousness at an altitude of 22,000 feet when a special oxygen face mask failed to function.

The Man Likes Speed

He calmly bit in the two rubber hose leading to his oxygen tank and sucked on the gas until his head was clear.

On other occasions, when a seafarers down draft dropped his plane dangerously close to some mountain tops near Los Angeles, he maneuvered toward a lake to pick up smoother air.

"Hope I didn't scare you," he remarked casually to a friend in the cabin behind him.

The Hughes fortune largely due to his father's invention of a rotary drill bit for sinking oil wells. The elder Hughes founded the Hughes Tool Co., in Houston, of which the son is board chairman.

Born rich, Hughes followed his father's technical bent. At the age of 12 he had constructed his own radio receiving set. The Hughes home-made automobile was a common sight in Houston. At 15 he had taken his first flight. In his twenties, he established himself as one of Hollywood's foremost movie producers. He made money. Among his pictures, "Hell's Angels," "Scarface," and "The Front Page" helped make movie history.

Keeps Full Logs

Like his father, Hughes is attracted by anything scientific. When he flies, he works every minute. His "logs" are "complete." At the close of a flight he can rattle off his average fuel consumption, cylinder head temperatures, manifold pressures, the altitudes at which he navigated, his speed and even the temperature of the air outside the plane.

For his current flight, he installed every piece of scientific apparatus in his "Lockheed 14" transport that came to mind.

With an extremely heavy load, the machine is expected to cruise at 175 miles an hour.

Though danger means nothing to him, recently he held the world's landplane record of 352 miles an hour over a measured course—he is loath to risk the lives of others.

President Roosevelt once told Hughes he would like to make a flight with him.

"Well," replied the young millionaire. "If you do, Mr. President, it will be the most nervous flight I've ever taken."

Still a Bachelor

Shy in the extreme, Hughes has made a speech only once in his life, before the New York Advertising Club.

"Speed is nothing of itself," he said then. "It must be adapted to commercial use if attaining it is to be worth while."

He lives simply but indulges a voracious appetite. He cares nothing for clothes, has often been seen with unpressed trousers. He has been known to touch his lips to one cocktail an entire evening and leave the glass primpful. He does not smoke. He plays golf in the low 70's.

From time to time movie press agents have tried to link Hughes' name with actresses, but he remains single and indifferent to such publicity.

"Tom Smiley's Appeal to the People of Texas:

I am a native-born Texan. My people on both sides of the house have lived in Texas for more than a hundred years and my people on both sides of the house have served in the war this country ever had.

My father served in the Mexican war and in the Confederate army. I had six uncles and seven cousins who were killed in action while serving the Confederacy. When the World War broke out, I was county judge of Karnes county and the appointment of district judge, I declined to qualify as district judge and resigned the office of county judge and joined the army the first day of the war. I have been in the active practice of law for the past 30 years, with the exception of two years in the army and the greater part of that time being service in France and Germany.

Sixty years ago we went to the supreme court and back in eight months. Now it takes about six years. I am in favor of the courts being at least as efficient as they were 60 years ago and in favor of the most sensible citizens having an even break with the greatest corporations in the land, and the reduction of court costs to at least three-fourths of what they are now. I am bitterly opposed to the reversing of cases on trivial grounds and I know justice delayed is justice denied.

Respectfully,

TOM SMILEY,
Candidate for Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of Texas.

NEW NUMBER FOR GOVERNOR'S PRIVATE OFFICE TELEPHONE IS FOUND NECESSARY FREQUENTLY

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL
AUSTIN, July 11.—(AP)—It looks as though Gov. James V. Allred again will have to change the number of his private office telephone because too many persons know it. Several times in his administration of three and a half years the governor has found it necessary to request a new number for the same reason.

The governor said at a press conference that the telephone problem had become acute. While he was trying to talk to correspondents the telephone rang repeatedly. Finally he handed it down, returning to his secretary, Doro Cowley:

"I've got to have another number."

Then, looking sternly at Cowley, he complained it was "mighty funny how so many people learn my number." Cowley, grinning, replied he was "not guilty."

The governor went on to say that some time ago his secretaries, Edward Clark, now secretary of state, and Pat Moreland, now a member of the unemployment compensation commission, obtained private numbers for their residence telephones.

"It got to where I was answering calls for Pat and Ed," the governor said. "Persons would telephone me to find the whereabouts of my secretaries.

Finally I wrote a letter to the telephone company and signed Ed's name to it, instructing that "my number be given to any who asked for it. That fixed him up."

Numbers not listed in the telephone directory are the defense, sometimes badly needed, of government officials who are called a great deal.

If they did not have such numbers, rest often would be impossible.

Folks generally may not know it but four Texans have been mentioned as possible democratic nominees for president in 1940.

Nearly everyone had read or heard the speculation about Vice President John N. Garner, and Senator Jesse Jones, Reconstruction Finance Corporation chairman, as the presidential possibilities.

At the Wichita Fall convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, friends of Senator Tom Connally classified him as presidential timber and said they were going to organize to work for his nomination.

Now, for the fourth, He is Karl Crowley, currently running for governor and before that so

Most pedestrians killed in Texas traffic accidents meet death while crossing streets at places other than intersections, the department of public safety reports.

In May a total of 32 pedestrians lost their lives, 10 while crossing streets between intersections. Five were killed while crossing at an intersection where there was no signal, two while crossing at an intersection with a signal and one while crossing at an intersection against the signal.

Six were killed as they walked in roadways, one while working on a road and two while playing in a roadway.

Accounts of actions of other pedestrians killed were not given.

FOUNTAIN KIRBY SCORES POLICIES OF ADMINISTRATION

CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS SIXTH DISTRICT ADDRESSES CORSICANA CROWD

Fountain Kirby, Groesbeck district judge, spoke in the interest of his candidacy for nomination as Congressman from the sixth Texas district at the courthouse Friday evening. Despite the rains a short time before the speaking hour, a good crowd heard his address on the issues he maintained were involved in the race for this post. Judge Kirby was introduced by Rev Moore of Corsicana. Following the conclusion of his talk, Judge Kirby invited other candidates to speak. Robert Bergin of Madisonville, formerly of Corsicana, spoke in the interest of G. V. Terrell, election as railroad commissioner, and Miss Kathleen Reed spoke in the interest of her sister, Miss Lydia Reed, candidate for county clerk.

In the beginning of his address, Judge Kirby declared he had never scratched a democratic party nominee, and maintained "he was a Thomas Jefferson democrat. He stated the present administration should live up to the principles of the constitution and declared that if the government was operated contrary to the principles laid down in the constitution, disaster would follow.

Scored Farm Program

Launching into that portion of his address relative to things being done by the administration which he disapproves, Judge Kirby lashed the present governmental farm program as being a silly mess.

"Congress alone is responsible for the mess," Judge Kirby shouted.

He voiced disapproval of the action of congress in putting the farm program in the hands of Secretary Wallace whom he termed a "Iowa Yankee who may never have seen a cotton stalk."

The candidate rapped the action of congress in "appropriating money like drunken sailors" and declared the cotton acreage had been cut down to where the farmers of the South would pay the tax. He said the program was a tariff proposition and that the manufacturing interests added the costs to their products and the people will pay the costs of the big appropriations.

Judge Kirby approved the domestic allotment program as sought and fought for by J. E. McDonald, state agricultural commissioner, but the program was opposed by the high authorities. He pointed out this plan would have been worth much more to the agricultural interests than the present farm program, would have eliminated much red tape and the incident large block of employees necessary to carry out the present program. He said this proposal would have placed the farmer on the protective tariff basis with industry.

Foreign Market Lost

The candidate referred to the pink of prosperity as a platform in the national campaign six years ago. He said no one had raised a voice in congress on that matter despite the fact that the democrats had dominated both the senate and congress these years. He pointed out that the foreign cotton market had been lost to the South.

Judge Kirby said prosperity was enjoyed under President Woodrow Wilson after tariffs had been reduced.

Rapping the curtailment of agricultural production, the aspirant to the congressional post declared that history had shown that where by control in reduction of products had been tried, it had universally been unsuccessful in that other places where it could be produced, increased acreage was employed. The lesson is that the attempt to tie the control or price by reduction of production lost the market and did not help the situation. He referred to England's rubber reduction policy, Brazil's coffee curtailment and Canada's wheat acreage reduction policy several years ago, all of which proved disastrous, according to the speaker, and were abandoned after losing their markets.

"You can't bring prosperity by scarcity," Judge Kirby declared. He did not mention Congressman Luther A. Johnson, incumbent, by name during his address, but appealed for a new congressman who will keep in touch with the people. He said that it was admitted recently from the stump by the present incumbent that he didn't know the shape of things in.

No "Yes" Man

The candidate declared that if he was sent to Washington he would not be a "yes man or a rubber stamp," but would raise his voice in the interest of the people of this rich agricultural district.

The candidate rapped the centralization of power and spoke for state rights to conduct their own affairs. He declared the country judge, the county could do as they liked, the old age assistance, assist as they formerly did for the Confederate veterans and save all that money spent for investigators, etc. He rapped the government's requirements to participate in the state assistance program.

Charging that a "whispering campaign" has been inaugurated against him with special reference to injunctions granted by him, Judge Kirby explained circumstances surrounding a number of instances where the petitions were in the proper form, supported by affidavits. He said he had no apologies to make for his actions and would do the same thing again under the circumstances. He said the injunction granted to stop the execution of John W. Vaughn was in order. The man was in jail and if he was innocent he should not have been elected.

Saved Huge Sums

The cotton truck injunctions during the depression was to help the underdogs, he said, when the railroad commission had declined and postponed hearings for permits. He said his truck injunctions had materially reduced the rates on cotton to the export points, thereby saving huge sums to the cotton producers of this section.

"If that is criticism, have at it," he declared.

Criticizing the tenant-purchasing program of the government, Judge Kirby said there were 4,000 tenants in Navarro county. The government program has been in operation for two years and one farm has been bought for a tenant. He said that if the $50 million dollars of the present pool farm program had been used to buy farms for deserving tenants to be repaid over a period of years, prosperity would be on its way back.

MEXICO IS WILLING TAKE LARGE NUMBER EUROPEAN REFUGEES

OTHER LATIN-AMERICAN COUNTRIES TO RESTRICT IMMIGRATION

EVIAN-LES-BAINS, France, July 9.—(Ap)—Three Latin American nations offered today to open their doors to German and Austrian refugees after other countries had told the Evian conference they could not permit mass immigration.

Mexico pledged "asylum to foreigners who are afraid for their lives" and promised opportunities for them to work.

The Dominican Republic promptly followed suit and did Peru the latter making an exception, however, of refugee intellectuals.

Virgilio Trujillo Molina, Dominican delegate, announced both agricultural and professional men would be accepted. He said large areas suitable for farming were available and the West Indian Republic would provide seed and technical advice.

Garcia Calderon, Peruvian delegate, said Peru would welcome farmers and agricultural workers, but would place restriction on lawyers, doctors and other professional emigrants.

The Mexican delegate, Primo Villa Michel, told the conference "our collaboration will make it possible to carry out the migration of refugees from Germany and Austria in an orderly manner at a rate appropriate to each country's requirements and possibilities."

He did not specify the number Mexico could take.

Jesus Maria Yepes, delegate from Colombia, told the conference "our collaboration will make it possible to carry out the migration of refugees from Germany and Austria in an orderly manner at a rate appropriate to each country's requirements and possibilities."

Argentina and Brazil previously had made similar discouraging statements.

SPECIAL ELECTION NECESSARY NAME NEW COMMISSIONER

Considerable conjecture has resulted the past two days as to the manner in which a successor to the late John P. Garity as city commissioner would be selected.

Perusal of the charter of the city of Corsicana reveals the following two pertinent sections:

"SECTION 6: The commission shall order all elections by ordinance or resolution, of which not less than ten (10) nor more than thirty (30) days notice shall be given. The commission shall have power to pass all ordinances necessary for the management and method of holding city elections, when necessary."

"SECTION 17: When any vacancy shall occur in any office or position in said city, if said office is an elective one, the commission shall, its first meeting thereafter, order an election to fill said vacancy, and if the position is an appointive one, the commission shall be filled by appointment as provided in section 6 of this charter, provided that if such vacancy is an elective one and occurs within sixty (60) days prior to the general election, no special election need be held."

JUST A THOUGHT

If I were a priest I'd say unto all who come my way, young or old: "Be not afraid! Marvelously you were made."

You, for every trying hour were endowed with stubborn power. So that you may carry through all that you shall will to do. In that worship called the mind. All inventions are designed: There is fashioned lofty thought. There is beauty planned and wrought."

Had it been my task to preach this is what I'd try to teach. Men with genius were endowed To be more than just a crowd.

PRICE REDUCTION

"These are times that call for increased co-operative endeavor not only within industry itself, but between industry and government," remarks Will H. Hays, supervisor of the film industry.

The President, speaking for the government, adopted a more conciliatory and reassuring attitude in his latest address to the nation, and some important business groups have shown a desire to co-operate more closely with the government. If this spirit can be cultivated and maintained, it should be a constructive summer for nearly everybody.

There is an election coming, to be sure, with campaign rumbles in the air. But partisans on both sides, along with a great army of rather tolerant middle-of-the-roaders, hope ardently that the bitterness of some recent campaigns can be avoided. Principles are important, and it is right that earnest men and women who have them should stick to them; but what the country needs is fair and logical argument rather than dog-fights and denunciation.

And it is worth remembering that generally speaking, even Americans who are farthest apart politically have usually more in common than they have against each other. That grows clearer when you look at what is going on in other countries.

TRUTH AND FREEDOM

Here is something for our foreign friends, and possibly for ourselves, to think about:

"When the clock of progress can be turned back by burning libraries, by exiling scientists, artists, musicians, writers and teachers, by dispersing universities, and by censoring news and literature and art, an added burden is placed on those countries where the torch of free thought and free learning still burns bright.

"If the fires of freedom and civil liberties burn low in other lands, they must be made brighter in our own. If in other lands the press is censored, we must redouble our efforts to keep it free."

These words of the president, in a recent talk to the National Education Association, set forth the duty not only of the nation's educators but of all citizens who have anything to do with spreading truth and influencing opinion. And that means nearly all of us.

Anyone who imagines that this duty is not important, that the truth will take care of itself, need only listen to the incredible things believed by some of the American exchange students coming back from Nazi Germany, or by travelers who may have spent a few days or weeks in well organized propaganda tours of Italy or Russia.

Truth is hard to get and hard to hold in these days of deliberate perversion, dictatorship and mass-delusion. Truth is impossible without freedom, and freedom is impossible without truth. In America, perhaps the greatest present reservoir of these values, we need to strive harder than ever to keep them alive.

Once more, city people going to the country for a rest are annoyed in the early morning by roosters crowing and birds hollering.

An expert says the back muscles should be used in playing tennis, but some good players seem to do it with their faces.

BUSINESS FRANKNESS.

At the 51st quarterly meeting of the New England Council at Woodstock, Vt., the other day, President James V. Hook told the assembled business and public leaders that business needed to be more frank with the public.

If there is any way of obtaining an "economy of plenty" instead of an "economy of scarcity" it probably lies in this direction.

DRUG WAR.

There is a phase of the war in China that may be even more sinister than air bombardment or machine gun fire. It is the deliberate cultivation of illicit traffic in opium. Charges have been made by the Chinese ambassador at Washington and by the United States member of the Opium Advisory Committee of the League of Nations, that the Japanese army is fostering the trade and hampering the efforts of the Chinese government to end poppy growing and to restrict the use of opium and its narcotics derivatives.

The Japanese member of the opium committee asserts that any Japanese engaged in this traffic are merely "shipping agents", and that the responsible parties are the governments of the new states in China—states set up, by the way, by Japan and with puppet governments under control from Tokyo.

American travelers in Japanese-occupied territory in China have reported large fields of poppies in full bloom. It is said further that the Japanese are importing tons of the more concentrated drug from Iran to peddle through China.

China has been trying for years to rid her people of the curse of this drug. The Chinese have sought to limit use of opium to strictly medicinal purposes. They have never been helped much in the struggle for liberation from a deadening speaking and heeding. Any business that assumes such responsibility toward its workers, interested neighbors and the "economic and social structure" will surely be one that is honest, playing fair with all concerned. If workers, neighbors and government do the same, all should profit.

A NEW DAWN

In theory the year may have reached its top on June 21, but summer's always behind the almanac, and it's a long, slow, pleasant downward slope.

If it isn't one blamed thing, it's another, and apparently the railroads are next year's job. According to that high authority, the mayor has awakened a new conscience and the first ray of light of a new dawn spreading over the United States."

So perhaps we should feel ourselves properly rebuked and the mayor should regard his vindication as complete.

Unfortunately the full text of that remarkable Italian statement is not given. Americans are left to imagine whether the Fascist approval is based on the suppression of free speech and deportation of liberal speakers from Jersey City or on the mayor's eloquent plea of Fascism in his trial at Newark.

However that may be, old-fashioned Americans believing in free speech and all that sort of thing may now consider themselves rebuked.

PART-TIME CONQUEST

Ethiopia is a small sparsely settled land, yet we are told by supposedly competent observers that Italy's hold on it is still uncertain. Many Ethiopians have not given up the idea of resistance against the foreign conqueror and continue guerilla attacks on groups of Italians.

China is a vast and populous land and even more unified in its determination to resist the invader than Ethiopia. It is easy to see that Japan, though a more effective conqueror than Italy, has tackled a job that may never be finished. The situation is neatly described by Dr. George B. Cressy, a Syracuse University professor.

"With reports of Japanese victories we are not told that 3,000 Japanese are killed daily in guerilla warfare. Even in Manchuria, Japan controls only certain sections, only in the daytime, only when her soldiers are there."

It seems to be a development of modern times that the victories of war are not decisive, the conquered refuse to stay subdued, the conquerors suffer as much as their victims in loss of life, loss of health and loss of economic well-being.

A two-inch clam in Lake Cobboscoconte, Me., killed an eight-inch horn pout by hanging onto the fish's jaw. Moral: Look out for strong, silent foes, and don't stick your chin out.

A stock boom means a good deal like a bird migration. The flock starts all at once, apparently without anybody knowing why.

Constitutional government has been continually threatened with destruction now for nearly 150 years.

Monthly Meeting Of Medical Society Be Merged In District

Three interesting wrestling matches were offered to fans by Palmer Jones at his open-air arena on West Fifth avenue Thursday night and they were unreel in such clock-like precision that fans enjoyed a real evening of sports and still were not kept up by time.

In a hectic affair, such as always occurs when they meet, Red Rodgers recaptured the belt emblematic of the light middleweight title, from Clint Duval. It was an interesting affair throughout, starting off scientifically and ending up, as usual, rough and tough. Rodgers won the first fall with double Japanese or step-over toe hold. It looked like two straight falls for Red when he had Duval groggy. In the second round, Red stamped out of his corner, future octopus holds and gained the fall. Red came back to win after much rough work when he pinned Duval, catching him off guard while he was arguing with the referee. He slugged him and then pinned his shoulders.

Bunny Martin, Tulsa, bad heavy, won over Red Lindsey in a match that was rendered more interesting after the final fall when Red slugged the referee after Martin won the first fall. After considerable slugging and alleged choking tactics, Red came back to win the second fall in the same manner, but Martin won the deciding fall.

Jack Bloomfield, premier Jewish mat artist, disposed of the local entry, Marvin Willis, in the one fall, 20-minute time limit affair. Willis is a greatly improved wrestler but was no match for the heavier and more expert Bloomfield.

DALLAS COUNTY FARM HOME BELIEVED BEEN BANDITS' HIDEOUT

DALLAS, July 8.—(P)—Robert F. Cole of Dallas believes a farm home that stood near White Rock lake once was a hideout for bandits more infamous than the number one public enemies of modern days. He said the bandit gang of Jesse James, Cole Younger and Sam Bass held-up there between forays.

Cole pointed out an old excavation, now thickly overgrown with weeds and underbrush, as the spot where one of the last hauls of the James gang was buried.

Through the grapevine telegraph by which small boys hear the news of a neighborhood, Cole and his playmates were fearful of the spot, but managed to get close enough to learn the news. A negro told the youngsters he dug the hole when the treasures were buried.

"It was below the smokehouse and the plum thicket," the old darky was quoted as saying.

Cole was uncertain which robbery the money cached at the old farm home represented, but said it was reliably reported that there was a serious squabble about what it was dug up.

Cole is the son of the late W. R. Cole, the early-day surveyor in Dallas county and has lived many years on a farm a short distance from what he described as the hang

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD HERE FRIDAY FOR JOHN P. GARITY

HUNDREDS ATTEND LAST RITES FOR PROMINENT CORSICANA CITIZEN

PROGRAM TO DEFEAT DEATHS ON HIGHWAYS OF TEXAS SOUGHT

OFFICIALS OF FOUR STATE SAFETY ORGANIZATIONS IN CONFERENCE FRIDAY

AUSTIN, July 8.—(AP)—Formation of a program to defeat deaths on Texas highways was the object of officials of four state safety organizations who met in conference here today.

Present were the directors of the Texas traffic safety council, executives of the Texas Good Roads association and members of the public safety and highway commissions.

In response to urging at the state-wide safety rally at Waco in mid-June, the executives considered a permanent plan for a balanced program in engineering, education and enforcement.

The program would include organization of a traffic board or commission, composed of official and unofficial interests, in each large city and to provide such organizations with factual matter to guide their work and acquaint them with the needs of state legislation for better traffic control.

In the field of engineering, the program would urge adoption, publication and distribution of a uniform code of traffic control standardization throughout the signals and devices to insure state; give the highway department control of installation of signals on all major thoroughfares, and urge cooperation of traffic engineer in larger cities to analyze accident causes and bring about needed traffic engineering improvements.

In education, the plan would include adoption of textbooks on traffic, safety patrols and teaching of safety methods; utilization of services of the press, screen, radio and other agencies to popularize the movement and inform motorists what is expected of them and publication by state departments of booklets on traffic laws.

The enforcement program would eliminate ticket fixing in all cities, urge better jury service in traffic cases, demand improvement in traffic law enforcement and turning the spotlight of publicity on political and selfish influences; urge improvement in police and sheriff's departments in reporting and investigating accidents, and appeal to courts and prosecuting attorneys to insure certainty of punishment in each guilty case.

Attending were C. J. Rutland of Dallas, president of the safety council; Lowry Martin of Corsicana, president of the good roads association; Oscar Burton of Tyler; Harry Hines of Wichita Falls; W. W. Callahan of Waco; and R. J. Walker, former Clarke Raymond, H. W. Richardson, Jr., Col. H. Carmichael, Captain Homer Garrison, Jr., Harry Phillips and Julian Montgomery, all of Austin.

JOHN P. GARITY
Funeral services, attended by hundreds of sorrowing friends, were held Friday morning for City Commissioner John P. Garity, popular sportsman, civic leader and business man, who died suddenly at his home here Wednesday night.

BOMB BLAST KILLS FOUR ARABS AS BUS TORN TO FRAGMENTS

JERUSALEM, July 8.—(AP)—A bomb blast at Jerusalem's busy Jaffa Gate today killed four Arabs and wounded 36 in a new outbreak of deadly terror which Great Britain is trying to crush with warships and troop reinforcements.

The bomb tore apart a bus in the crowded Jaffa bus station and a vegetable market in the shadow of David's Tower.

The vehicle was filled with Arab countryfolk about to leave for Hebron. Its bloodstained and twisted framework was scattered in a roadway filled with panic-stricken humanity.

Troops of the Scottish Black Watch regiment with fixed bayonets cleared the square and started hunting for the bomb thrower.

One Jew surrounded by an enraged Arab mob was rescued by British troops and hurried to safety.

About the same time a general strike broke out in Amman, in neighboring Transjordan. Workers struck in sympathy with Palestine Arabs, victims of bombing at Haifa, Palestine's chief port.

Today's violence raised the casualties in nine days of riots and tension to 37 killed and 150 injured.

The British battle cruiser Repulse, one of the world's biggest battleships, steamed into Haifa harbor to take the place of the 7,500-ton British cruiser Emerald. The Repulse trained her cannon on Haifa.

LICENSING UNUSED PATENTS IS SOUGHT BY SENATOR KING

WASHINGTON, July 8.—(AP)—

Senator King (D-Utah) urged today legislation for compulsory licensing of unused patents as one way of curbing monopolistic tendencies in business.

King, member of the monopoly investigating committee, wrote Thurman Arnold, assistant attorney general, that he hoped the justice department would recommend such legislation when it completed its part in the monopoly study.

"There is no doubt," King asserted, "that some large corporations have bought up patents that they have never used and have no intention of using at the time they were purchased. They thus have impeded progress while protecting their own process of manufacture of products."

He suggested legislation requiring a patent holder to make use of a patent within five years or allow others to use it. Patent holders now may retain exclusive rights for 17 years.

Arnold, the justice department representative on the monopoly committee, indicated that patents and patent pools would be a major subject for study.

Senator Mahon (D-Wyo), chairman of the monopoly committee, said he thought an investigation of patent trends highly important because he believed evidence would support the charge that many monopolies had been built up largely through the acquisition and retention of fundamental patents.

Attending were C. J. Rutland of Dallas, president of the safety council; Lowry Martin of Corsicana, president of the good roads association; Oscar Burton of Tyler; Harry Hines of Wichita Falls; W. W. Callahan of Waco; and R. J. Walker, former Clarke Raymond, H. W. Richardson, Jr., Col. H. Carmichael, Captain Homer Garrison, Jr., Harry Phillips and Julian Montgomery, all of Austin.

Montfort Defeated Cotton Millers On Sunday Afternoon

Montfort defeated the Corsicanans 3-1 Sunday afternoon.

The representatives, and Senator Tom Connally and Governor James V. Allred boarded the presidential train to ride to Amarillo.

Shortly before the train departed, the president, surrounded by the secret service and out of the crowd came a flaxen-haired, grinning girl of about eight years, Matilda Nall of Fort Worth, running toward Mr. Roosevelt. She was hoisted to the platform, dug into her tiny purse and presented the president with a shining cigarette lighter.

Overhead drove a sky writer, releasing clouds of white smoke that seemed to voice the sentiments of a station crowd of several thousand.

Montfort forged ahead in the third when two tallies were chalked up and another was added for good measure in the fourth.

Gowan, Montfort, hurled a creditable contest and allowed six hits as did Upchurch of the Millers. Gowan, however, fanned nine, while Montfort had six.

The Cotton Millers will play the Wortham Central Texas Cup race club here Saturday afternoon and will entertain the Dr. Pepper league combination here Sunday afternoon.

MAVERICK

The typical west Texas hat, the cowboy hat, is the most popular in the country. Son Elliott also gathered the fancy of the big crowd gathered on the fringe of the plains country. Son Elliott also friends assert he is a true liberal. Without doubt, he inclines more toward the left than many southern congressmen.

The new argument against Maverick this year is that he is too friendly with the C. I. O. The congressman replies that he is a friend of all labor and the attempt to link him with the C. I. O. in a district in which that organization is weak in politics. Kilday has emphasized that he (Kilday) has the endorsement of William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and the San Antonio A. F. of L. trade council.

The president planned platform appearances at Wichita Falls, Childress, and Clarendon, clinching the day with a public appearance at Amarillo. It was his first stop through a region the federal government has aided in an erosion and crop program.

Crowds Pour Into Amarillo.

AMARILLO, July 11.—(P)—People from all over the Plains came into Amarillo today to greet President Roosevelt. Thousands are gathered in cowboy hats, but they are oozing a plan from Chief of Police W. R. McDowell "to leave your shotgun lions at home." The people deck out in cowboy regalia for all kinds of special events—and the visit of the president is no exception. While carrying firearms has been illegal in Amarillo since 1900, they have been allowed to wear "hog-legs" if unloaded, of course, one special occasion. Chief McDowell said, however, that "on this occasion we've got to draw the line."

Streets in Amarillo were crowded this morning even before the president left North Woods and scored well, "running out in" Ellwood Park, where the president will speak. They took their lunches with them so they could hold their places for tonight.

Tested stoutly no such inference could be read into Mr. Roosevelt's words.

Platforms of Phillips and Walton and Flinley have outlined proposals even further removed from the conservative side.

State interest in the governor race is intense, on a Murray and anti-Murray basis, and overshadowed interest in the senate race.

Senator Elmer Thomas, seeking a third term; E. W. Marland, new deal governor, and R. Gomer Smith, and seeking the democratic senatorial nomination.

Mr. Roosevelt indicated preference for Thomas in his Oklahoma City speech, although he was a friendly word for Marland as well.

Farm Hand Held Admits Guilt In Three Slayings

SOUTH ST. PAUL, July 8.—(P)—Police Chief E. J. McAlpine of South St. Paul, said today he captured Robert McLeod, 28, sought for killing three persons on a farm near Osceola, Minn., and that the man had confessed the killing.

McAlpine said he saw the suspect driving in a car this morning and gave chase. He forced the car to the curb and made the arrest.

The victims were a newly married young couple and a hired man, each shot through the head by the killer who struck during the night.

The three bodies were found dead yesterday, about 12 hours after the time authorities estimated the body had been slain.

The dead are Kenneth Oswald, 24; his wife, Paula, 24; and John Kujawa, 25. Deputy Sheriff Fred Kroemer held a former farm hand with whom the Oswalds had had trouble recently was sought for questioning.

COTTON NOT SOLD BEFORE SEPT. 10, 1937, DUE 3 CENTS

COLLEGE STATION, July 11.—(Spl.)—Cotton produced in 1937 but not sold before September 10, 1937, will be eligible for flat payment rate of 3 cents a pound on the amount eligible under the recent amending act passed by Congress providing for speedup up cotton acreage adjustment payments according to word received from Washington at the state AAA office at Texas A. and M. College.

Farmers who certify that they have not knowingly overplanted their 1938 cotton acreage allotments and who agree in writing to refund the payment in case it is later found that they have failed to meet the requirements, will receive payment as soon as forms and instructions are received and issued and application is made, E. M. Holmgreen, administrative officer in charge, said.

All acreage is now being measured, Holmgreen pointed out, but compliance

FACIAL STEAMING

For that extra cleansing the skin sometimes needs, Miss Forbes suggests steaming to clear out the pores.

If your skin is of fine texture, and without any evidence of enlarged pores, you will have no need for watching that soildoes not become lodged in them. There are such skins as and it means that there is a perfect balance of assimilation and elimination going on in the system, leaving such perfect skins. Women who have these beautiful skin need very little in the way of a make-up, even for an evening toilette. The others must use cosmetics, and while many of these now are not heavy enough to clog the pores, they make stretching the face occasionally a necessity. Poor elimination will also effect the skin so a thorough steaming will be needed. Clogged pores are static, and gather up soil that hardens the clogs, and there will be the stubborn black heads to increase the trouble.

Stretching the face is just a means of creating activity in the skin, opening the pores, so nature will get a chance to slough off the accumulations. It will clear the skin as will nothing else. We have penetrating creams now that do much toward clearing the skin from the pores, but their main use is not for this purpose. It is to be depended upon. Occasionally the steaming is due to stir up the circulation and give nature the chance to do the full cleansing. If you are in the habit of taking a Turkish bath at stated times, add facial steaming at the time you are steaming over. This Turkish bath towel is placed over the face and do the whatever way you are doing it. Always remember the skin will need oil afterward to offset the dryness from the extra cleansing.

Mrs. H. V.—An exercise for the chin muscles is as follows: Tip the head far back and with the mouth wide open. While the head is bent back, shut the mouth. The motion stretches the muscles still further, but the stretching is very beneficial, really acting as exercise does, getting the blood circulating fully throughout. Repeat this for a few minutes, and then dash cold water over the skin to contract the pores, and get up the healthy red glow that follows any cold bath.

ADMINISTRATION'S FARM LEADERS ARE CHEERED AT OUTLOOK

WASHINGTON, July 9.—(P)—Administration farm leaders, cheered by the sharp reduction in cotton planting, turned their attention today to the midwestern corn and wheat belt.

The agriculture department has asked corn growers to reduce operations in view of prospects for a larger than normal surplus. It will learn Monday from the federal crop report whether the forecast whether they are cooperating as fully as cotton farmers.

Private authorities have forecast corn production of about 2,500,000,000 bushels. Officials had hoped to keep this year's corn production below 2,450,000,000 bushels to avoid marketing quotas.

Under the quota system, requiring approval of marketing of the growers, farmers would store a part of their crop under seal or pay a penalty tax.

Monday's report also will give the department its most accurate estimate to date on the size of this year's wheat crop. Last month's estimate was for a large crop record 1,045,000,000 bushels, or about 495,000,000 bushels more than normally is required for domestic and export needs.

If the report indicates a wheat crop as large as 950,000,000 bushels, the department will ask wheat growers to plant no more than 65,000,000 acres next year, compared with 79,500,000 seeded for the current crop.

PRESIDENT'S TOUR NOT BACK-PATTING TRIP ACROSS NATION

ABOARD PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S SPECIAL EN-ROUTE TO OKLAHOMA CITY, July 9.—(PDT)—It became progressively evident during the long first day of the president's transcontinental tour that this is more than a back-patting expedition.

Visiting politicians and members of the president's party expressed the opinion it might be more noteworthy for the president to argue to the campaigning friends of Mr. Roosevelt than for mentioning some of their names.

Although they have come to expect in every Roosevelt speech program, the nature of the talks in Ohio and Kentucky today indicated this series of speeches would, before it ended, cover most of the controversial phases.

If so, the critics said agricultural relief, reorganization, etc., are still to come.

In a speech also Mr. Roosevelt essayed to justify temporary deficits and to claim, through them, credit for balanced budgets in many states. HUGHES their round-the-world odyssey within six days.

The big plane roared to a gentle stop in front of Le Bourget's main building, where States Ambassador William C. Bullitt headed a throng of French and Americans waiting to greet the airmen.

Hughes, however, did not cut the two motors for almost a full minute after rolling to a stop—the first flier since Lindbergh to make that flight.

As soon as the propellers stopped whirling the ambassador went to the door of the plane and opened it. He stuck his head in and shooed him away.

"Congratulations, did you have a good trip?"

Hughes said he was planning to take off for Russia "as quickly as possible."

And that means "one or two hours," he added.

Hughes First to Alight.

Hughes was the first of his crew to alight. He was evidently tired, but had a broad grin on his face. Before coming out he had taken the trouble to put on a necktie and place a hat on his head.

The flight leader was followed by the other four airmen.

"We had a fine trip," said Hughes. "We made it in 16 hours 31 minutes."

Hughes evidently figured his elapsed time from the moment the airport was sighted, as other calculations gave 16 hours 35 minutes.

French air officers stepped up to pat Hughes on the back and touch his hand.

Bullitt introduced his army and naval attaches and French officials to Hughes and members of his crew in turn.

The five fliers, accompanied by the ambassador, went to the airport commandant's office after police succeeded in cutting a pathway through the dense crowds which were shouting:

"Vive les Américains!"

"Long live Americans!"

A special ground crew took the plane in hand immediately after Hughes and his crew left it and began to tune up the motor.

So quickly did the plane arrive at the airport that everyone was caught unawares. The first inkling was when the plane hove out of the clouds to descend quickly to the field.

Because the plane is of the same type as those used by a large commercial airline with a terminal here many observers thought at first that the plane was simply another airline from London.

The first intimation official had that the fliers were over France was a radio message informing Le Bourget they were about to land.

It hardly had been received when the plane's broad wings dipped down toward the surprised crowds.

Until that moment, in fact, airport officials denied the fliers even had reached the French coast.

Brown hat awry, Hughes immediately checked the plane and gave orders to refuel it. He said he had not been able to check but believed he had 250 gallons of gasoline left when he landed.

Hughes Had Feared For Fuel Supply

NEW YORK, July 11.—(P)—Breaking high over the Atlantic at a better than 200-miles-an-hour clip, the silver-winged monoplane bearing Howard Hughes, 34, millionaire adventurer, and four crew members neared the Irish coast today on its non-stop hop to Paris, first goal of a speed flight around the world.

Battler fears by Hughes that his fuel supply would be exhausted apparently were dispelled as the lightening plane picked up speed with every passing hour.

Albert Lodwick, flight manager, said Hughes radioed the liner Ile De France in mid-ocean at 4:25 a.m. (CST)—11 hours and five minutes after the takeoff—that he was 2,250 miles from New York.

Lodwick, confident the fuel supply would hold out, told the plane could complete the 3,000-mile flight "in 17 or 18 hours" if it could maintain its speed, instead of the 22 to 24 hours expected. The big rebuilt $85,000 transport ship, aided by tailwinds, was traveling an average of 30 miles more an hour than was hoped.

"Hughes should pick up speed from now on," Lodwick said. "He has plenty of gas, however, so there need be no worry about him running out."

Hughes, busy checking his directional guides, was unable to keep up scheduled hourly radio broadcasts.

A ground temperature of 90 degrees took heavy toll of the fuel supply after the heavily-loaded rebuilt transport plane turned its blunt nose skyward from Floyd Bennett field last night.

Three hours later Hughes, broadcasting over a national hook-up of American stations as the plane traveled through intermittent rain squalls at an average speed of over 100 miles an hour, said:

Heat Failed Economy

"The heat has made it impossible for us to secure the economy from our engines we had expected. The ship is performing about as expected."

Rain sweeping through a leaky windshield added to the discomfort of the fliers during the first hour of the flight.

As the plane turned toward the open sea, Hughes reported an electrical reel in the hold of the plane

Flying the 3,000-mile "Great Circle" route traversed by Charles A. Lindbergh in 1927, Hughes expected to land at Le Bourget Field in Paris 22 or 24 hours after his takeoff. It took Col. Lindbergh flying solo in a slower plane, 33 hours. This will be the first, and the last, to date—to make the flight successfully.

Hughes, who expected to save refueling time by making only six stops, hoped to complete the trip in five days—almost three days less than Post—at a cost of approximately $300,000.

After leaving Moscow he planned to make two stops in Siberia and then up to Canada, Alaska, Edmonton, Alberta, Canada, and back to Floyd Bennett field.

Sketches of Five Record Smashers

NEW YORK, July 11.—(P)—Five men who beat Lindbergh in time of a non-stop flight from New York to Paris were:

Howard Hughes, tall, gangling and shy, Maury Maverick, Hatton W. Sumner, Lyndon B. Johnson and Fritz Lanham.

All the representatives are seeking re-election.

In those four states, Mr. Roosevelt gave indications that he wished the renomination of Senators Robert J. Bulkley, Alben W. Barkley, Hattie W. Caraway and Elmer Thomas. Texas has no senatorial election this year.
